Coffee

A cup of coffee,
he ordered but did not drink.
Too much chicory.

I sip my coffee, The aroma fills the room, Calliope inspires.

I love coffee. It's one of the few things that can consistently make me happy. The smell, the taste, the warmth - it's all so perfect. And it's even better when I can share it with someone I love.

Poetry is another one of my passions. I love the way words can be used to create beauty and meaning. And I especially love writing haikus. Haiku is a type of Japanese poetry that consists of three lines, with five syllables in the first line, seven syllables in the second line, and five syllables in the third line.

I've been writing haikus for several years now, and I've found that they are the perfect way to express my thoughts and feelings about coffee.

Here are a few of my favorite coffee haikus:

- Morning coffee, The perfect way to start the day, Warm and comforting.
- The smell of coffee, Reminds me of happy times, With friends and family.
- A cup of coffee, A moment to relax and, reflect on the day.

I hope you enjoy these haikus as much as I do. And if you're looking for a way to start your day off on the right foot, I highly recommend a cup of coffee.

Thank you for reading!
