A Haiku Adventure

Haiku, a traditional Japanese poetic form, is renowned for its simplicity and brevity. In just three lines, a haiku captures a moment in time, often evoking a vivid image or a profound emotion. In Redbird Tree One Thousand Haiku, award-winning poet Gary Hotham takes us on an extraordinary haiku adventure. Each haiku is a window into a different aspect of nature, from the delicate bloom of a flower to the majestic flight of an eagle.

Seasons Unfolding

The haiku in Redbird Tree One Thousand Haiku are arranged into four sections, each representing a season. Spring awakens with vibrant colors and new life, summer bursts forth with warmth and abundance, autumn paints the world in hues of gold and crimson, and winter brings a hushed stillness and introspection. Through Hotham's keen observation, we experience the changing seasons not only as a progression of time but as a symphony of sights, sounds, and sensations.

Spring Haiku

Cherry blossoms bloom
The air is warm and sweet
I will play hooky.

-Kathy Fargal, artist, crafter, teacher

*Spring flowers bloom bright,
Colors dance in gentle breeze,
Nature's joyful song.*

Nature's Symphony

The poems in Redbird Tree One Thousand Haiku celebrate the diversity of the natural world. Hotham introduces us to a myriad of creatures, from the tiniest insects to the largest mammals. We encounter the playful antics of squirrels, the soaring grace of hawks, and the gentle wisdom of the owl. Each creature is given its own voice, its own unique perspective on the world.

*Squirrel leaps through trees,
Tail twitching, playful spirit,
Nature's acrobat.*

Landscapes of Wonder

Beyond the creatures that inhabit it, nature itself is a character in Redbird Tree One Thousand Haiku. Hotham paints vivid landscapes that transport us to mountains, forests, lakes, and seas. We experience the grandeur of a towering waterfall, the serenity of a moonlit forest, and the vastness of the open ocean. Each landscape is a testament to the beauty and diversity of our planet.

*Waterfall's thunder,
Cascading down rocky cliffs,
Nature's symphony.*

Moments of Insight

While many of the haiku in Redbird Tree One Thousand Haiku focus on the external world, others explore the inner workings of the human mind. Hotham captures fleeting moments of thought, emotion, and connection. He invites us to reflect on our place in nature, to appreciate the beauty of the present moment, and to seek wisdom in the simple things around us.

steady mind is a tree reaching for the daylight hidden behind fog

*Mindful breath in, out,
Present moment, all there is,
Peace washes over.*

A Time Capsule of Nature

Redbird Tree One Thousand Haiku is not only a collection of poems but also a time capsule of nature. Hotham's haiku capture the beauty and wonder of the natural world as it exists in this moment. As the seasons change and the years pass, these haiku will serve as a reminder of the fragility and resilience of our planet. They will inspire us to appreciate the simple pleasures of life, to connect with nature, and to work towards a sustainable future.

Redbird Tree One Thousand Haiku is a testament to the power of words to capture the essence of nature and the human experience. Gary Hotham's haiku are like tiny jewels, each one illuminating a different facet of the natural world. Through his keen observation and skillful use of language, Hotham transports us to a realm of beauty, wonder, and insight.

Redbird Tree One Thousand Haiku is a collection to be savored, one haiku at a time, a journey through nature and time that will leave a lasting impression on your soul.
